Level Ground by Brian Doerksen | Genre: Praise & Worship | Release Date: February 22, 2011

This new album was recorded on the floor of other worshipers - in the congregation - not on the stage - not in the studio. It's an incredible call for grace and authenticity in worship.

The stage was empty as Brian Doerksen and his band joined worshipers on the floor, all worshipping Jesus from a place of LEVEL GROUND. Whether facilitating personal, small group or corporate worship, these songs will invite you into God's presence. Available in CD, CD Trax, Songbook, Digital Songbook and DVD formats.

4. Tony Guerrero to Join The WTT Radio Show Hosting!

Our good buddy Tony Guerrero who has appeared on multiple segments of our Show is now coming to help co-host. For the time being, every other week will rotate between Derek and Tony, along with Branon at the helm. Over the next few episodes and weeks, we are adding more guests and other leaders to help facilitate different segments of the show.

In the meantime, check out Tony's site and music at:

<http://www.tonyguerrero.com/>

Tony's "Blue Room" is currently in its 15th straight week on the National Jazz Charts (jazzweek) and receiving substantial radio airplay both nationwide and internationally! He's also doing music work with John Tesh as he co-leads worship bands at Saddleback Church - this guy is busy!

Welcome Tony as he will appear on the next episode!

WORSHIP TEAM TRAINING TECH SHOP

Tech Shop Items brought to you by Kent Morris

Elixir cables – Musical snake oil salesmen usually ply their trade in cables and power conditioners. Their ads exude claims of purer tone, warmer response and other nebulous anecdotal testimonials like the success stories at a Tony Robbins convention. However, the latest science does suggest the better a cable is at lowering capacitance (stored electrical charge), the more aligned the transmitted frequencies will be. Elixir claims the lowest cable capacitance in the industry so their recommendation here is warranted. Now, gold plating, elaborate sheathing and fancy connectors do little or nothing to change the capacitance but those visual cues appear to be part of every premium cable package. Thus, the Elixir cables come as a premium product with non-twist memory and grippy plugs but the overall investment is low enough for those who don't hear a difference to appreciate the visual difference a good cable can make to the rig.

Peavey STI - Every church that needs to play some audio from a laptop soon discovers how bad the sound card is in almost every situation. From Dell to HP, Sony to Lenovo, the sound card is the first place they cut costs. While it cannot fix poor construction, the Peavey STI aims to make a bad situation passable by taking the 3.5mm output from the laptop and through the application of dual isolation transformers, create a quiet, clear signal. With both left and right balanced 1/4" TRS ports as well as switchable stereo and mono XLR outs, the STI can interface into any church tech booth environment. The STI is solidly built in the USA, can be rack mounted and sounds great.

Korg Kronos 88 - Korg finally returns to the top of the heap with the Kronos, a no-holds-barred monster of a machine with nine sound engines, an 8" color touch screen, massive samples and internal solid-state drive. If you can dream the sound, Kronos can produce it. The action is solid, the menus make sense and everything works like you think it should. It's not cheap, but neither is a Ferrari.

The Riots in Cairo | Egypt Protests & Crisis

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=3xWiBCIxjlk>

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/mobile/world-middle-east-12351831>

Egypt's prime minister has apologised for the fighting between pro- and anti-government demonstrators in Cairo's Tahrir Square, which killed five people and wounded several hundred.

Ahmed Shafiq pledged to investigate the violence, calling it a "fatal error".

The protesters are demanding that President Hosni Mubarak, who has ruled for 30 years, step down immediately.

After further pre-dawn violence, the army has been using its vehicles to separate the feuding factions.

One tank turned its turret towards pro-Mubarak demonstrators who were throwing stones at protesters from a road above Tahrir Square on Thursday afternoon, before advancing towards them along with footsoldiers to help clear the overpass.

'Change now'

Egypt's Health Minister Ahmed Samih Farid said earlier that five people had died in the fighting, which began on Wednesday, and 836 were injured - mostly as the result of stone-throwing and attacks with metal rods and sticks. Petrol bombs have also been thrown.

"This is a fatal error," Mr Shafiq told the privately-owned al-Hayat television.

"When investigations reveal who is behind this crime and who allowed it to happen, I promise they will be held accountable and will be punished for what they did."

"There is no excuse whatsoever to attack peaceful protesters, and that is why I am apologising," he said, urging the protesters "to go home to help end this crisis".

Mr Mubarak has said that he will serve out his current presidential term, which ends in September, but will not run for re-election.

Egyptian opposition leader Mohamed ElBaradei and the Muslim Brotherhood have rejected government calls for negotiations, saying Mr Mubarak must leave office first.

Meanwhile, the leaders of France, Germany, Britain, Italy and Spain have issued a joint statement condemning the violence and calling for a political transition that "must start now".

Tahrir Square focus

On Wednesday, opposing groups fought pitched battles in Cairo, in the worst violence in 10 days of protests.

The unrest has left about 300 people dead across the country over the past 10 days, according to UN estimates.

Cairo's Tahrir Square has been the main focus of the protests, and a group of anti-Mubarak protesters remains hemmed in there by barricades. During a recent exchange of stone-throwing, there was heavy gunfire and the crowd were chanting and banging drums.

Anti-government protesters said earlier they had detained 120 people with ID cards linking them with police or the ruling party, most of whom had been caught attacking demonstrators on Tahrir Square.

Exodus 15:26

He said, "If you listen carefully to the LORD your God and do what is right in his eyes, if you pay attention to his commands and keep all his decrees, I will not bring on you any of the diseases I brought on the Egyptians, for I am the LORD, who heals you."

WTT FEATURE GUEST INTERVIEW

Eric Moore

Eric Moore, singer with Kirk Franklin Ministries and Resonate. Eric is currently on tour with Kirk Franklin and appears on the "Hero" and "The Fight Of My Life," Albums. Eric Moore and Resonate is an up and coming praise and worship group based in Austin, Tx. Their heart is to create an atmosphere of worship through music where people of all nationalities can experience God.

Eric also is the worship leader of Shoreline Church in Austin Texas as well as the leader of his own music group Resonate.

Background of Resonate and Eric Moore:

Isaiah 61 says that the Lord came to bind up the broken-hearted and to set the captives free. Eric has a heart to serve the community through the ministry of music. The dream is to partner with churches and ministries to help release unity and healing.

Resonate is not merely musicians and singers; together with Eric, they are dedicated to help create an atmosphere where God can impart revelation. Through a cross-cultural sound, Resonate desires to encourage an experience where people can come to find freedom and restoration from the very heart of God. It is about being instruments used by God to accomplish His will. There is nothing more powerful than the manifested presence of God on earth.
