WORSHIP TEAM TRAINING TECH SHOP

Tech Shop Items brought to you by Kent Morris

Shure PSM-900 – Wireless in-ear monitor systems have become the norm in thousands of worship settings due to their portability, elimination of stage volume and stereo imagery. Shure's PSM-600 range of products were at the forefront of the movement for years but were recently eclipsed in the field by newer competitive offerings. However, the engineering team in Illinois has been burning the midnight oil to develop the next generation of personal monitors. The PSM-900 is their resounding success. With a studied focus on transmission quality and extended response, the PSM-900 establishes a new benchmark for audio and RF (Radio Frequency) performance through the use of techniques and circuits used in Shure's flagship UHF-R series mics. The PSM-900 sports a handy signal mute control on the transmitter's front panel to allow the engineer to keep distractions down between sets, the strongest output drivers in stepped configuration to deliver high volume even to closed back headphones and an intelligent IR (Infra Red) sync with the fastest processing time available. Combined with excellent build quality, a slim bodypack design, up to twenty compatible frequencies per band and automatic RF gain control, the PSM-900 is set to become the new standard rack occupant of Monitor World.

Groove3: PT 08 – Songwriters have found a new joy in using ProTools 08 since the latest version of the ubiquitous recording program flows and works like musicians think. Even so, there is room for some expert help and ProTools master Michael Costa's new DVD delivers the details and secrets you need to know to get the most out of PT 08. Costa assumes a basic working knowledge of recording in general and ProTools in particular, but he begins at a reasonably basic level. With eighteen topics on-hand, there is something for everyone from the volunteer worship leader to the mega-church tech director. Among the topics covered are: score editing, MIDI, automation lanes, pitch adjustment and AIR's virtual instruments. The content runs over two hours, is segmented logically and priced affordably so there is no reason to avoid learning how to get the most out of your ProTools 08 rig.

Tascam PT-7 – When is a tuner more than a tuner? When it is the PT-7, a chromatic tuner with metronome and memo recorder built into a fashionably orange compact package. The twenty minute recorder is enough for song creation and arrangement ideas and its slow-mode feature allows you to loop and slow down the playback without affecting pitch. An oscillator out and quick on-screen display can help students learn faster and the inclusion of eight musical scales from Kirnberger III to Valloti and six time signatures means almost all genres are covered. A handy flip-out rear support doubles as a music stand front lip clip and a single AA battery will keep the PT-7 working for ten hours. Throw one in the music bag and enjoy.
